No Matter How You Slice It . . .

Just as days turned to weeks, weeks to months, and months into years, each school year has been an important slice of our life. Like a chef who mixes together the ingredients for a scrumptious meal, a yearbook has always had the responsibility of blending the elements of a school year to capture the essence of that particular slice of life.

This year, as every year, there were many things to be cherished. Our friends and teachers both made unforgettable memories, and who could ever forget their first days at Northwood? The school seemed so gigantic that you never thought you would find your way around, but eventually you did, and then it seemed so easy. No one can everlook the locker's crowded conditions, as every year it seemed to get worse. Our spirited pep rallies were not to be forgotten either, as everyone was so enthusiastic. It was great! Everyone wants to forget being sent back to the end of the lunch line after being caught 'cutting', and walking up and down many stairs every day.

If you just think about it, there were many things which made for memorable experiences this year, which will be remembered as a special- Slice of Your Life!

Student Life

Every day was full of changes. Every moment brought new ideas. Every second brought endless memories; some happy, some sad, but they all helped to build our strength and character.

There was always something to do to keep busy. The activities we were involved in helped to break the monotony of everyday school boredom. Everyone was able to find something they were interested in, whether it was around school, or around the community.

This student life section includes a "slice" or what Northwood students thought and were involved in during 1986-87. And no matter what they were involved in, they were determined to make it the best of times ... and succeeded!

Fabulous Fridays

From football games, to movies, to outings with friends, there was always something to do on Fridays. Everyone seemed to have their own reasons for looking forward to Fridays. Jeff Hughes said: "I enjoy Fridays because of football games, not having to do homework, and because I can go out and have fun."

Fridays were synonymous with no homework. Most people felt they deserved a break from the excruciating workload! Students worked long and hard during the week and Fridays were a day to kick back and relax. Even our teachers seemed to enjoy themselves, if one can imagine that! Mr. Boykin said: "Fridays herald the weekend, which is the only sane reason for having a week."

Fridays prepared us for the weekend. Spirits always ran high among everyone. We knew that we had two days to rest, relax, and have a great time.

There were many things one could have chosen to do on Fridays, but, whether one chose to go out, or to just stay at home, Fridays were always highly anticipated.

Fridays weren't always fabulous, as senior, Ricky Arkansas found out with a foot injury during the Bossier game

Senior, Tim Wilhite began to wonder just what he'd gotten himself into when he lent a hand helping decorate for a Friday night dance

Falcon Line members Darlene Dunlap and Monica Martilli showed their enthusiasm as they cheered the Falcons to another victory

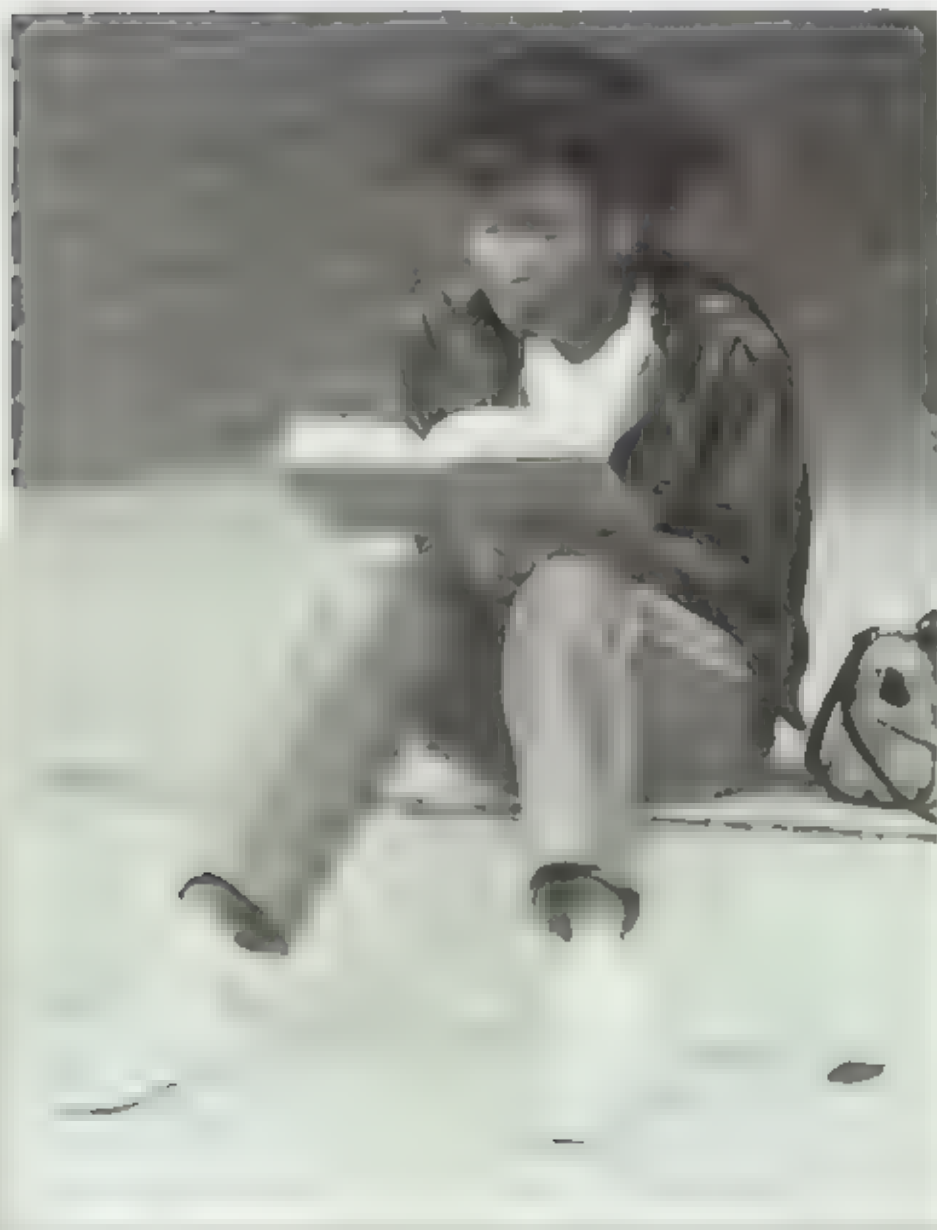

Nothing To Do

"There's nothing to do!" Have you ever heard anyone say that? Or, maybe said it yourself? Well, you're not alone! Many of the students at Northwood experienced a problem called boredom. When they were not going to football games or to school, there seemed to be a limited variety of entertainment available. "Living in Blanchard, you really don't have much to do," said junior, Kelli McInnes, "and when you have little money or transportation, it's even worse."

It's true, many students didn't have the money or transportation, so they just stuck close to home. "When I had nothing to do I just watched TV or slept," noted sophomore Kevin Butts. "But if you are creative, you can have fun without spending money," said senior Rhonda Ashby. "I just call up my friends and talk, or I sit and play my guitar for hours," said junior Neil Owens.

Having nothing to do meant different things to different people. When looking around and seeing what life had to offer, maybe, just maybe, you could end up having fun, even when you had nothing to do.

H i-Ho Hi-Ho

It's Off To Work We Go!

There were times when everything seem-to go just right, then ... BOOM! and all the freshly stacked oranges rolled to the floor. If you've ever worked as a stockboy in a grocery store, that's probably happened to you. Or how about the time when it was five minutes till 5:00 on a Friday, and your boss walked in with a mountain of paper work and politely said: "get this out for me if you would, TODAY!"

Either of these examples would have been reason enough for a very depressing feeling. Either was reason enough for some of Northwood's finest to call work a dirty four letter word. Shauna Ferguson, senior, said: "I hate work, especially when there are fifty cars in the Drive-thru, and some nut decides to change his order when he gets to the window."

However, there were also those who loved their jobs and enjoyed a feeling of accomplishing something. Max Knack, senior, stated: "I love the money my job provides; partying and money go hand in hand!"

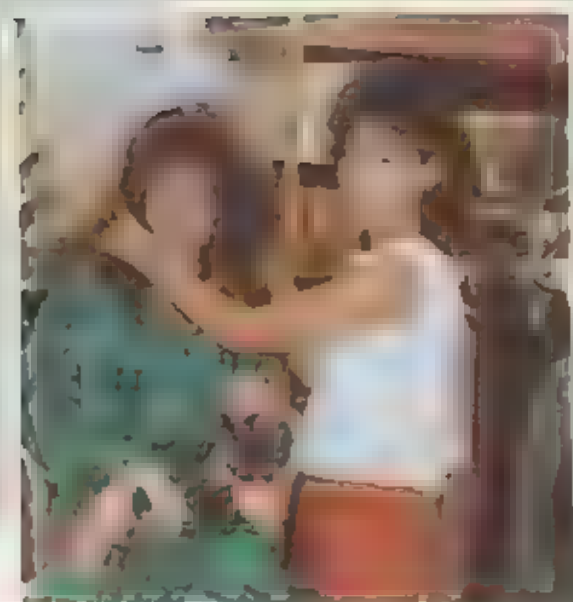

Jarred Shaw, junior, got his body from lifting weights one bag at a time.

Senior, Allen Dantes, a stock boy at Brookshires takes his job and shoves it

"Playing dress-up" is a way Michelle Bachman, junior, passed the time while working at Beal-Ladymon's.

Slicing up the daily special was one of Cindy Luker's jobs at Podnuhs.

"Good morning, may I help you?" was a typical saying for senior, Paula Wiggins, a bank clerk at Republic National Bank

Where Does It Go?

Have you ever wondered where your money goes? Money is a possession which most teenagers are in pursuit or need of. It is a big part of a teenagers life.

Being a member of the work force helped many students keep their wallets full. Since they were often working, they were too busy to spend what they earned.

Senior Debbie Drescher said:

"most of my money goes for my car and putting gas in it. It also goes for buying my clothes." Senior Kim Yakich voices a similar opinion by saying most of her money goes for buying clothes and going to McDonalds.

Being a teenager means going out to eat on the weekend, and to the movies. Money gives teenagers a sense of worth.

Kellie Bonnette compares prices in order to get the best buy for her money.

Tony Moffit spends a quarter here and a quarter there while he tries to win the game.

Steve Bridges spends his money on Thursday night at Mr. Gatti's.

Monica Martelli eats her money away.

M otorvation

Wheels: a.k.a. automobiles, trucks, motorcycles. Where would we, teenagers living in the age of modern technology, be without our cars? They are a symbol of independence and self esteem. Unfortunately, they are also expensive.

Owning and operating a car today is a costly endeavor. With average new car prices running in the $10,000-$12,000 range, plus gasoline, maintenance, and insurance costs taken into consideration, many Northwood students who were seen driving "their" car to school were actually "borrowing" mom or dad's ride. Even when the major auto makers offered financing rates ranging from 0%-2.9% this fall, most local teenagers found that they still couldn't afford a new vehicle, much less the one of their dreams.

As for dream cars, the Porsche 944 was the favorite among many students polled this year, with the Lamborghini Countach running a close second, followed by a group of also-rans which included the Corvette, IROC-Camaro, and Trans-Am Firebird.

"dream" car or a beat-up clunker, Northwood's driving students learned to take on new responsibilities with their freedom machines. The newest of those responsibilities was to remember to "buckle up" each time they get behind the steering wheel, as Louisiana instituted its new seat belt law in July.

W hats Hot-Whats Not

From Kewpie dolls and Whataburgers to Teddy Bears and McDonald's- fads are forever changing to fit the needs of each generation.

Teenagers these days go out on a date to a movie, then stop for a pizza or a hamburger. Compared to 20 or 30 years ago, young adults our age went to the drive-in to watch a movie and eat at the same time. This is just one of many examples to show how styles and everyday routines have changed in the course of time. Some items that were "hot" this year were Reebok tennis shoes, Swatch watches, Cabbage Patch dolls, Guess jeans, McDonald's for fast foods, Teddy Bears, and many other things.

While somethings are classic, such as the "classic" coke, and stay around a lifetime, fads are ever changing, making some things "hot" one year and "not" the next.

Puppy Love

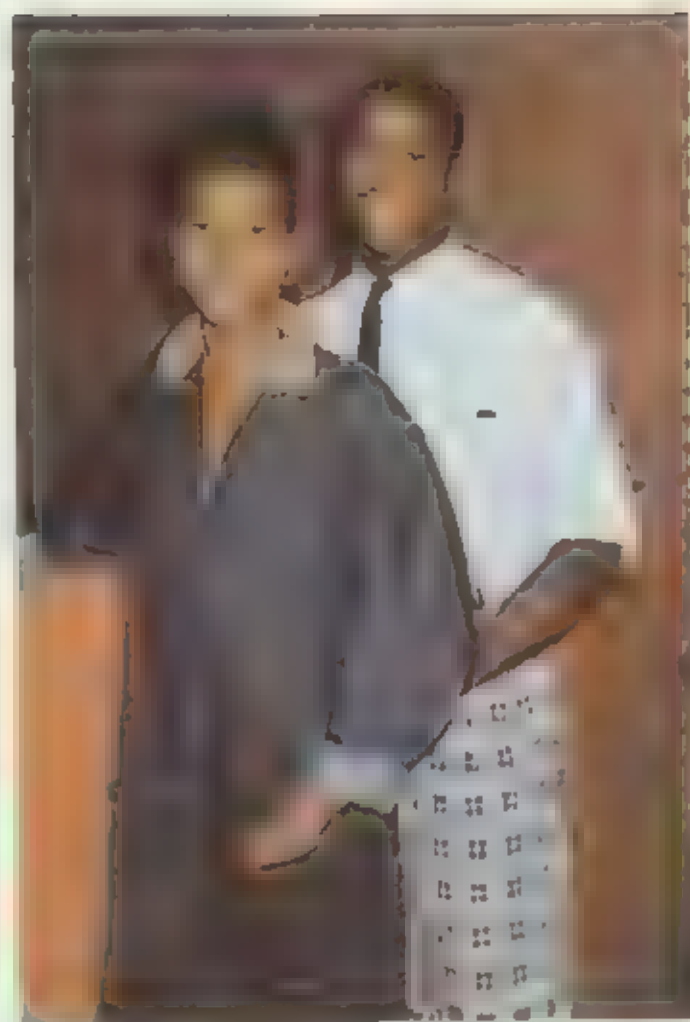

Puppy love rings a bell in everyone's heart. You knew it when it hit you- sweaty palms, heart beating fast (sometimes very fast), and the inability to speak when your loved one walked by. You suddenly realized that the opposite sex wasn't that bad after all.

Your first experience of asking someone out or being asked out was very exciting, especially when it was someone you had been dying to go out with. You always thought that your first date would be a disaster, but some found it to be a memorable experience. When asked what they did for their first date, Northwood Senior Stephenie Graham stated: "I was a sophomore on my first date. We went to the movies, to Gatti's and the went cruising around the city." Junior, Tony Rogers said: "I was in the seventh grade when I went out on my first date; we doubled with my cousin to a farewell dance at Cope Jr. High."

Everyone always remembers their first love, that someone who made an everlasting impression in your mind. Here at Northwood we had a lot of couples who no matter what, were always together-between classes, at lunch, and after school.

Although showing PDA (public displays of affection) in school was a no-no, most students did not have to do this to show the person of their affections how they felt about them ... their eyes told it all!

It seemed that everywhere senior Lisa Robinson went, her shadow, senior Bill Johnson, wasn't far behind.

Enjoying one of the only opportunities they could share together, junior, Rosemary Thomas and senior, Allen Dantes were regularly seen enjoying lunch together.

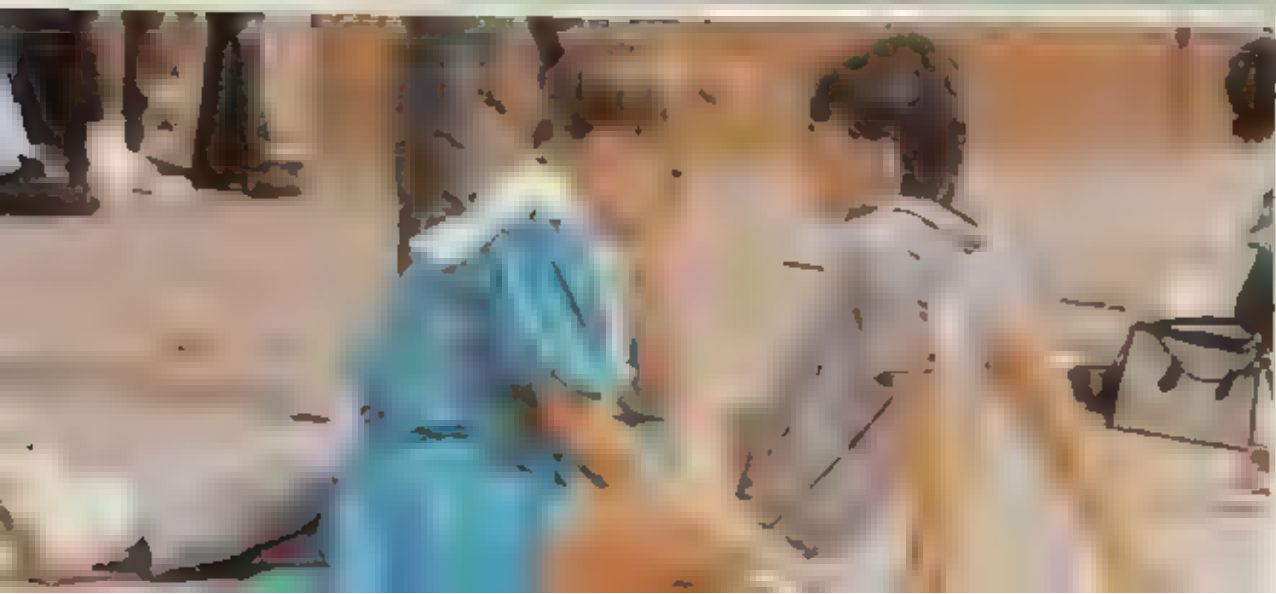

"I thought you'd never ask!" was junior Kelly Barnett's response to senior Shannon Wall's invitation to Mr. Gatti's for supper.

'Steve, what's wrong?' asks sophomore Becky Uli or senior Steve Bridges while they spend time together at lunch.

'Giddy-up, Jason!!' Senior Kellie Black says while on a day at the lake with steady Jason Myers.

F riends Forever

Have you ever heard the term-friends forever? Well if so, have you ever wondered just how long forever is?

Friends play an important part in everyone's life, especially during one's high school years. Although all friends are special, some seem to be more so than others. Best friends share more than just good times, they're there for you no matter what! These special people make life bearable even when things are at their worst. Senior, Teresa Dean said: "Whenever I feel sad and depressed, I can always count on Debbie to cheer me up."

Friends depend on each other for a lot of reasons, including a shoulder to cry on, a person to laugh with, someone to share your most secretive thoughts with, and many other things that if you have a best friend, you know exactly what they are.

Once you make a friend, if it's a true friend, your friendship will most likely last an eternity!

Helping keep each other happy and making one another smile is one thing being friends is all about, as demonstrated by Kenya Robinson and Princess Jones, Sophomores.

All for one, and one for all! Juniors, Mary Ann Giecek, Boosie House, and Kellie Bedgood always stuck together.

Practice Makes Perfect

The final bell rang, you jumped up raring and ready to go home. You dreamed of laying comfortably in your bed for a long nap or even watching the end of your soaps on television. Your thoughts were disillusioned when you realized that you had to stay after school for that ugly word that meant hard work, long hours and a tired body. What was that ugly word you ask? What else could it have been but practice!!!

That old cliché- "practice makes perfect" was used a lot around Northwood's campus. In most cases it rang true when we looked around and saw our football teams, cheerleaders, pep squads, Falcon Line and band, among others, perform to a "T".

So, when you were hot, tired, and wanted to go home, you could always remember-practice made perfect!

Survive The Cafeteria

Have you ever wondered how some students survived the cafeteria? "I don't!" was the most popular response given when students were asked the question of cafeteria survival. When Mark McGowan and Darrel Ard were asked how they survived eating in the cafeteria, their reply was: "R-O-L-A-I-D-S." Angela Fuqua didn't know how in the world she survived, and Melody Horton thought the best way to get through lunch was to have had someone shove it down your throat. Carla Curtis, on the other hand, believed you should have made someone else eat it first, and if they got sick you would know not to eat it. Trevor Mickesell referred to his lunch as recycled garbage, and with all the horrible talk about the cafeteria most students didn't realize that the food offered was actually good for you. The school lunch was really a nutritious meal, filled with vitamins and something from each of the four food groups. But if this didn't appeal to you, you should have taken Kelly Black's advice: "Bring your own lunch."

Become The Teacher's Pet

Were you well liked by all your teachers, or did you get sent to the office all the time? If you would have liked to improve your student-teacher relationship, here are some ways you could have done. To become a teacher's pet you should have always been polite, have sat in the front of the class, and have always paid attention. David McCartney said, "A good way to become the teachers pet was to become the teacher's son's best friend." Many students liked to grade papers to become the favorite. Justin James said flirting always worked, and Monica Martelli's advice was to dust their erasers. There were many different approaches to becoming the teacher's pet, but in some cases nothing worked, so you just had to rely on being yourself.

H OW To -

Cheat

Can you believe some students have actually cheated? Some were even clever enough not to get caught, and here's how they did it. One student, who wished to remain anonymous, said he made a cheat sheet, rolled it up, and put it in his pen. If you had a teacher who was not very perceptive, the students could have ban together and taped a cheat sheet right on the front of the teacher's desk. Other students wrote the answers on the bottoms of their shoes or on their hands, arms, or legs. Still others wrote answers on their desks, or went as far as to tape a cheat sheet on their sunglasses. These were all certified ways of cheating, and have been proven successful by your fellow classmates. If you chose to cheat, you must also have kept in mind the consequences of getting caught

Do Your Homework

Jimmy Glynn tries to make his way to class with a heavy load of books.

Homework may have been a drag but we've all had to do it at one time. According to Heather Stimits, the best way to get your homework done was to do it as soon as you got home, to get it out of the way.

Some students liked to wait a while before putting their nose to the grindstone. Melissa Sammons said, "The best way to study for a test is to study right before you go to bed. That way, you can remember all the material better." She also said, "If you get stuck on a problem, it might help to call a friend and work together." Although most of us would like to put a curse on whoever invented homework, it was a proven fact that if you wanted to get ahead, you must have committed yourself to doing that horrible thing-"HOMEWORK!"

"Earth Angel"

Originally recorded by The Penguins in the '50's and more recently popularized by the The New Edition, the hit tune Earth Angel served as the theme for Northwood's 1986 Homecoming festivities. Queen Brandy Boone and her court enjoyed not only the pre-game and half-time activities, but particularly the heavenly results indicated on the scoreboard when the final buzzer sounded with Northwood 35 and Loyola 14.

In the twenty years of Northwood's existence, homecoming has been a special time for the students. Homecoming has always given them an opportunity to show their spirit while also having a fun time. This year saw additional spirit when the Senior High Honor Society sponsored a Homecoming backdrop contest. Expecting only one organization to win the competition, everyone was pleasantly surprised when the judging resulted in a tie between the backdrops prepared by the Senior High Honor Society and Pep Squad.

Not to break with tradition, the Student Council enlisted the aid of some of the faculty members' children to present each member of the court with a memento of the activities. However, even with all of the mementos, decorations, and activities of the week, no one will ever forget Northwood's Homecoming 1986- for as Vicki Lawrence might have sang- it was The Night The Lights Went Out At Northwood!

Maj. Miller and Mrs. King came to everyone's rescue when "The Lights Went Out At Northwood."

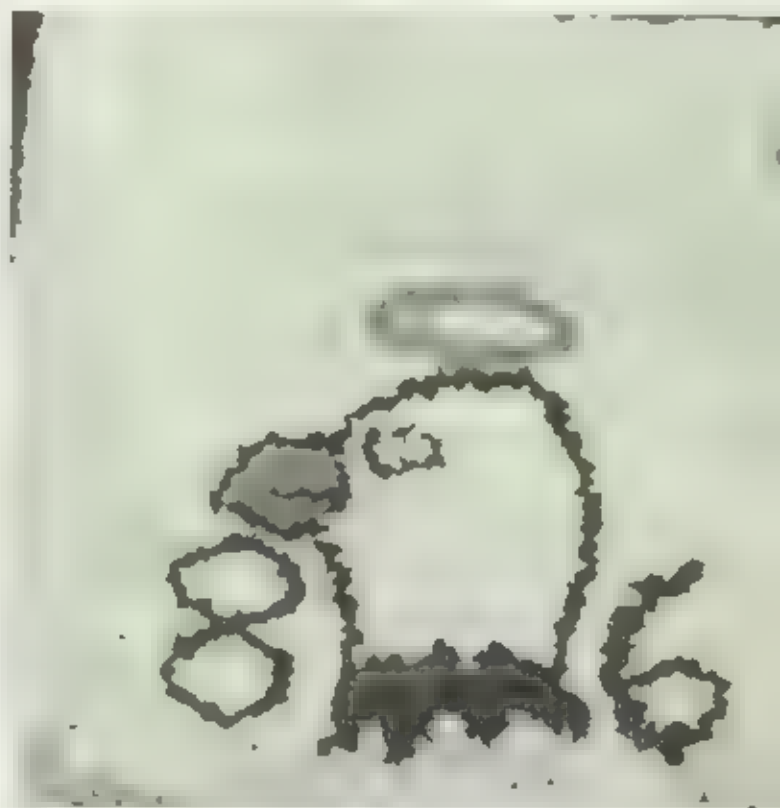

The 1986 Homecoming Court was comprised of: (front) Jr. Maid Laurie House, Soph. Maid Dana White, Fresh. W hat A Week!

During the '86-'87 school year, one week stood out above all of the rest. The excitement of Homecoming week spread like wildfire- from the announcement of the court, to the sweeping up of the crepe paper after the dance. The week began with everyone seeing double, since many students dressed as twins. Then on Tuesday everyone tried to outshine each other, as the loudest Jams and Magnum 'look-a-like' shirts flowered all over the campus, while Wednesday proceeded to produce some of Northwood's nuttiest Nerds! By Thursday everyone was ready for something comfortable as they sweated the approaching game, which was supported with the traditional school colors wardrobe on Friday.

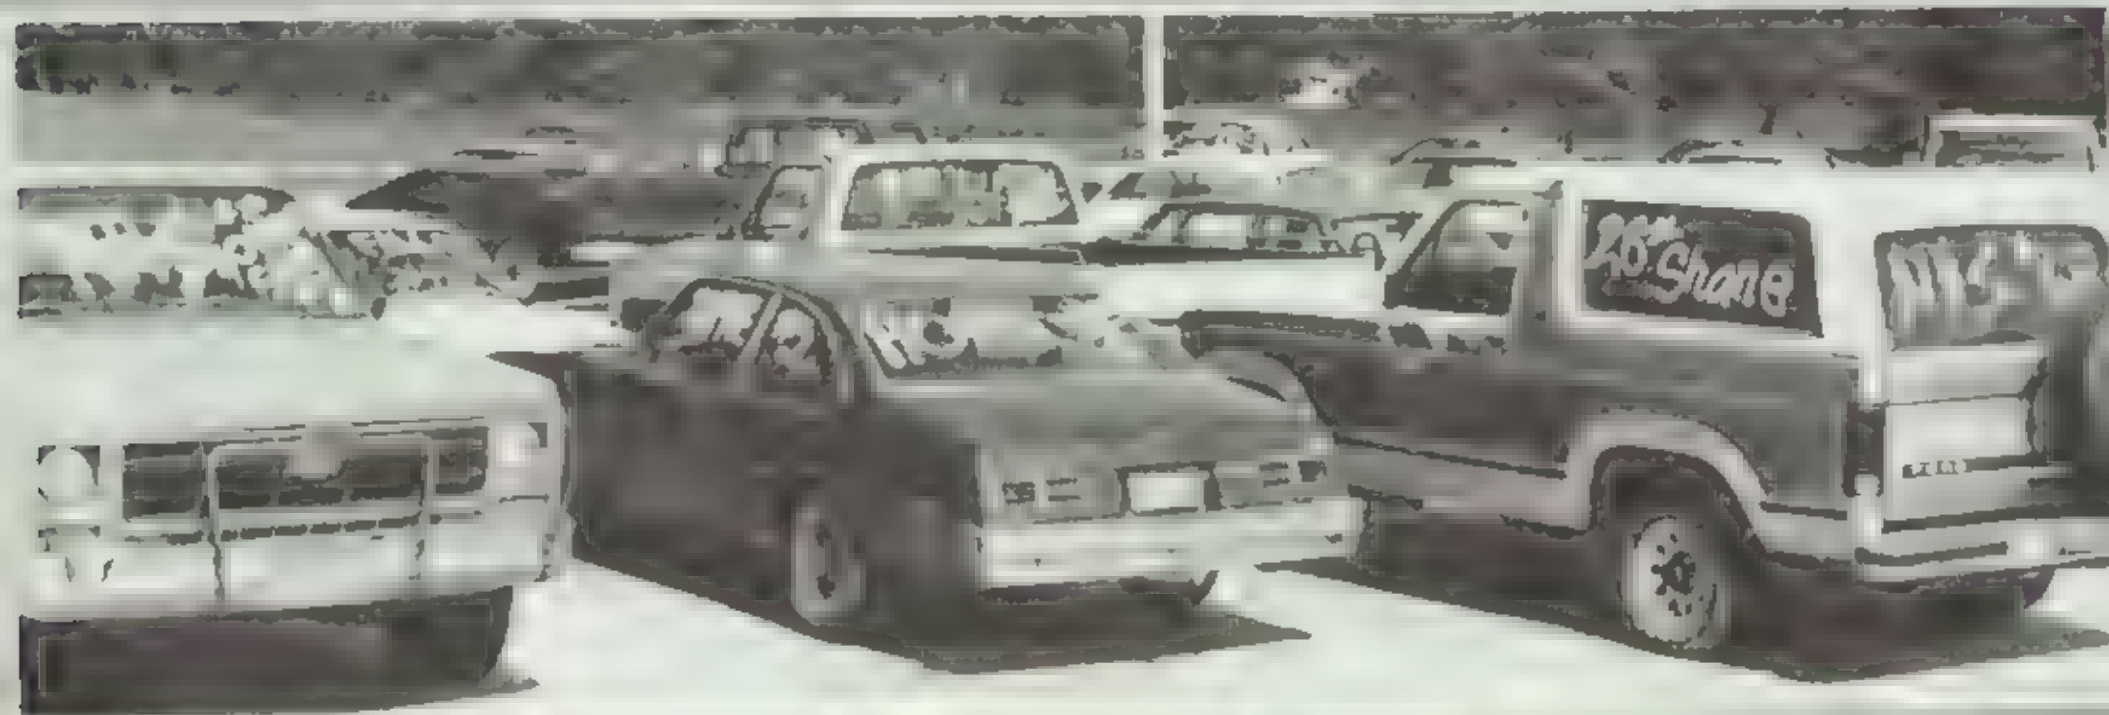

When kick-off time finally arrived Friday night, evidence of Northwood's spirit was on the ground, in the stands, and in the air. In addition to the brightly dressed spirit groups, and the painted field, probably the most memorable sight of Northwood's '86 Homecoming was the 'rainbow' of orange helium filled balloons which greeted the spectators as they entered the stadium. Set free to carry the Falcon's spirit even higher, the balloon 'rainbow' was only one more item which made the 1986 Homecoming festivities- A Wild Week!

The 1986-87 Prom was sponsored by Mrs. Yates, Mrs. Holt, and the junior class officers. This year's officers were Kim Shephard, Eric Polson, Julie Smith, Holly Dupont, and Laurie House all of whom had a lot of parental support.

The junior officers, along with Mrs. Holt and Mrs. Yates, held meetings every Wednesday and Friday before school to discuss the Prom arrangements. They raised more money for this year's Prom than had been raised by any previous group, and were thus able to provide more Prom favors than in the past.

This year's theme was "Fantasy Island", and Prom was held at the Regency Motor Inn on April 3. The activities began with the meal being served at 8:00 P.M., and the dance following until 11:00 P.M. These activities were then followed by a pool party from 12:00 A.M. until 2:00 A.M.

This year's Prom Court included: Bill Johnson, Stephanie Graham, Shannon Wall, Darius Henderson, Brandy Boone, Kristi King, Kelly Black, Tim Wilhite, Kim Shephard, Chris Jester, Gloria Harrington, Corey Davis, Mary Ann Clark, and Eric Polson.

Having received the highest number of votes from the Junior and Senior classes, Shannon and Brandy, were elected as King and Queen of the Prom.

When questioned about their reaction on learning of their election, their response was somewhat typical of someone who received this honor. Brandy stated: "I was shocked and excited." Shannon's comment was: "I was happy and very surprised!"

He was also an active member of the football, baseball, and basketball teams. He plans on attending college and majoring in Business Administration.

The 18 year old daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Gerald Boone, Brandy, was elected as Queen of the 1987 Prom. During her Senior year, she was Head Cheerleader, Homecoming Queen, and President of Quill and Scroll. She plans to attend Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge and major in Psychology.

Miss Tropicana Rose

Five finalists: Melissa Davis, Brandi Broughton, Lisa Allen, Mary Ann Gieck, Kim Shephard

If you're a young lady at Northwood, it's December, and you're too nervous to walk across the stage, or you've lost the ability to speak well, you're probably in the Miss. Tropicana Rose Pageant.

This year's Miss Tropicana Rose was Lisa Jo Allen, the 16 year old daughter of Mr. & Mrs. James E. Allen Jr. Lisa likes to spend time with friends, ski, shop, and talk on the phone. Boy's And Girl's State Boy's and Girl's State delegates were leaders in school who took time out of their summer to go to Baton Rouge and learn how the government works, by experiencing it first-hand. Approximately six to seven hundred guys and girls attended and came back with an intense knowledge of the United States and Louisiana government. The delegates from Northwood were Kelly Black, Tami Lawler, Elizabeth Self, Kristy King, Stephanie Graham, Kevin Johnson, Leroy Brown, Tim Wilhite and Shannon Wall. The delegates all agreed that they had a great time and felt that they all came back a better person and with a greater appreciation of our government.

Everyone got a chance to run for public offices, campaign, and give short speeches. When offices were filled, the city proposed a project such as a main highway or a shopping mall. But the most fun was when they all got together to talk and jam! Everyone agreed that it was a lot of fun and that they never knew how easy it was to make fifty friends in one week!

When the State Delegates from across Louisiana gathered together, it meant a lot of fun and hard work.

Besides having been chosen as a State Delegate, Shannon Wall received additional governmental experience by serving as Student Council President.

Favorite Teacher Of The Year

For the first time, this year's Northwood student body was able to show their appreciation for all of the hard work and dedication which their teachers have given over the years. In a poll conducted by the Student Council, Mr. Calvin Rodgers received the honor of being designated as the student's Favorite Teacher of the Year. Mr. Rodgers has taught math to hundreds of students during his twenty-two years of teaching. He earned a B.S. degree from Grambling State University, an M.S. from the University of Southern California, and another B.S. from L.S.U.

Favorite Students Of The Year

When the Student Council asked the senior high faculty to vote for their favorite student of the year, little did the staff know of the irony which would develop. Not only did the voting result in a tie, but both of the students who were selected, Kristi King and Kim Yakich, had received the very same honor as eighth-graders while at St. Pius school.

D.A.R. Award

The recipient of the annual award presented by the Daughters of the American Revolution was Leroy Brown.

Mr. & Miss Northwood

Elected by the student body from a list of nominations from the faculty, Dale Christian and Kristi King were chosen as Mr. and Miss Northwood for 1987.

Dale is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Christian, and has attended Northwood for six years. Though active in track, 4-H, Drama Club, F.C.A., and the wrestling team, Dale's most memorable times at Northwood probably came during his senior year, when he served as the school's mascot- Freddy the Falcon. He was also included in Who's Who Among American High School Students.

Miss Northwood for 1987, Kristi King, has been a student here for only four years. However, during that time she participated actively in Falcon Line, F.C.A., F.L.C., National Honor Society, and Student Council. During her senior year she served as Falcon Line Major.

Some of Kristi's honors included being voted Best Looking, North Star, and Co-Student of the Year. She also was in Who's Who Among American High School Students, and was a Louisiana Girl's State Delegate.

Kristi is the daughter of Laurie and Glenn King.

Dale certainly enjoyed promoting school spirit as Freddy the Falcon.

Kristi had a lot of responsibility as primary leader of the Falcon Line.

Top Twenty Seniors

The dream of being included in the list of Top Twenty Seniors came true again this year for those lucky enough to be chosen. These honored students were selected by Northwood's faculty, which took into consideration such student characteristics as academic achievement, dedication, school spirit, leadership, and extra-curricular activities.

Though not pictured, Allen Dantes, Latonya Kelly, and Elizabeth Self were also selected for this outstanding honor.

Seniors

Of all the time one spends in school, their Senior year is probably the most special. It's the time that friendships and memories which are treasured forever are made. It's when one's mind and heart are open to everything around them.

As one thinks back, it seems like only yesterday it was 7th grade. Everything seems so different from then, it's hard to believe six years have actually passed. Though there were many hard times along the way, it's nice to look back and know that it was all worth while!

Seniors

President, Tim Wilhite- "Being President has been really great. I loved every minute of it and I would not change anything I have done for the class of '87."

Treasurer, Charles Williams- "Being a Senior class officer is an honor. Right now I am in the midst of an extraordinary period in time. I have a good voice in my student government that will really come in handy when stating my own views and values that I feel will help the class of '87."

Vice President, Taml Lawler- "I really appreciate being a Sr. class officer. It's nice to know that your classmates have enough confidence in you to choose you to be a leader."

Reporter, Tommie Beech- "I was really excited being chosen as a class officer. I couldn't believe I made it. Being a class officer for the class of '87 was a great honor."

Secretary, Marco Devalle- "I felt awesome when I got Sr. class secretary. It's nice to know that your classmates like you and trust you enough to vote for you."

Chaplain, Mary Garner- "When I received the honor of Sr. class chaplain I was shocked. It took me three years to get chaplain (I ran against Bernard Alford). Now that I am chaplain, I am going to do my best to fulfill the duties of my office."

Slice of Organizations

Organizations

Northwood has such a wide variety of clubs and organizations that it is almost impossible for anyone not to be active in an extra curricular activity. High school is a time to become involved in activities, to make long lasting friendships, and fun times to remember forever. Many people who belong to the different clubs can enjoy with others the activities that they are interested in.

Talon Staff

Have you ever wondered just how the yearbook was put together? Well, there were sixteen hard working staff members who made it possible. It took a lot of concerted effort, many after school hours, and plenty of frustrations to get this book published.

Talon staff was a lot of fun and hard work put together! There were layouts to be drawn, pictures to be taken and cropped, plus copy and captions to be written and typed. And while that would be for just one page, there are 236 pages in this book.

Just as Northwood's yearbooks have changed a little over each of the past several years, this year's Talon underwent even more modernizing. Current yearbook trends include use of more copy and less emphasis on posed group pictures, which required more work on the part of the staff.

The production of the Talon is also an expensive endeavor. Besides selling ads during the summer, staff members also promoted the sale of the book itself, and sold "balloon bouquets" all year in an effort to make the Talon a financially sound project.

Flight Line

If you saw a Flight Line newspaper this year, you probably noticed the new look. The Flight Line was done on an IBM PC Computer using a special programmer specially made for the production of school newspapers. Mrs. O'neal, the sponsor of the paper, said: "We were trying to achieve a balanced paper, with the emphasis on student activities and issues important to teenagers."

Tim Wilhite, senior, served as the editor of the paper, with Keith Carter, Co-Editor; Chris Jester, sports Editor; Kelly Akes in charge of Features, and Kim Shepard responsible for clubs. The editors assigned stories, enforced deadlines, and made decisions about articles and the staff. There were sixteen staff members, each in charge of reporting information of importance to the student body.

Tim Wilhite, editor of the paper, had a tough job of making sure the paper was put together and delivered on time

Student Council

Student Council served as the central government for Northwood. Many of its members have said that being part of student council was time consuming and a lot of hard work, but yet, a very rewarding experience. With Mr. Boykin as Student Council made it possible to have numerous activities.

One of the most important activities which student council sponsored was Homecoming. They held elections for the court, tabulated the votes, and decorated for the dance. They also held elections for class officers and class favorites.

Two of the council's fund raising projects were the football programs and calender sales. Student Council made it possible for Northwood to have numerous successful activities throughout the year.

Jr. High Student Council

The purpose of Junior High Student Council was to develop attitudes of, and practices in, good citizenship; to aid in student-teacher relations, and to create an interest in school affairs. Junior High Student Council members helped organize parties for contests such as school spirit, the Great American Smoke-Out, Teacher Appreciation Week, and dances.

Sponsor, Mrs. O'Neal, said: "To be on Junior High Student Council, or to be an officer, one must maintain a 2.5 grade average, and be willing to work and get along with other people!"

Sr. Honor Society

The purposes of Honor Society are to create enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to serve, and to promote worthy leadership. To be qualified to receive the elite honor of being in the society, students must maintain a B average and have the qualities of: scholarship and leadership, and be willing to serve their school and community.

Throughout the year Honor Society had several projects. The organization was privileged to be able to re-write the Falcon Fly-Laws, which contain information about the school and different organizations.

The Great American Smoke-Out was another project that the Honor Society sponsored this year. Their goal was to persuade many not to smoke and encourage most to not start. It was and always will be a great success with the continued cooperation of the student body.

Around Thanksgiving was the Thanksgiving food drive. The group collected food for the needy around the Shreveport area. The drive was a great achievement thanks to the generous people of Northwood.

The Junior Honor Society is a special organization for students who have excelled in their school courses and in school related activities. To become a member, a student has to meet the following requirements: maintain at least a B average and not have a discipline record, while also exhibiting the qualities of scholarship, leadership, character, and service.

This year the Junior Honor Society sponsored a food drive in November, collecting canned goods and other non-perishable foods to give to the Christian Service's program for the needy. They also participated in the Great American Smoke Out, a special day when non-smokers tried to help smokers "break the habit".

The organization's fund raising projects this year included a Green Stamp raffle and sales of Krispy Kreme Doughnuts. The money earned from these projects helped furnish a $500 scholarship for a senior at Northwood.

Members planned a trip to Six Flags at the end of the year with their sponsor, Mrs. Hickman.

Computer Club

Since more and more people, both adults and students, have a need to learn computer literacy, Northwood offered a club that encouraged young people to meet the needs of our growing technological society.

The Computer Club gave students an opportunity to spend time using and learning more about the IBM PC computers available here at school. Members met two Wednesdays of each month and occasionally had guest speakers.

Along with a $2 membership fee, members had to maintain a C average and have no discipline record.

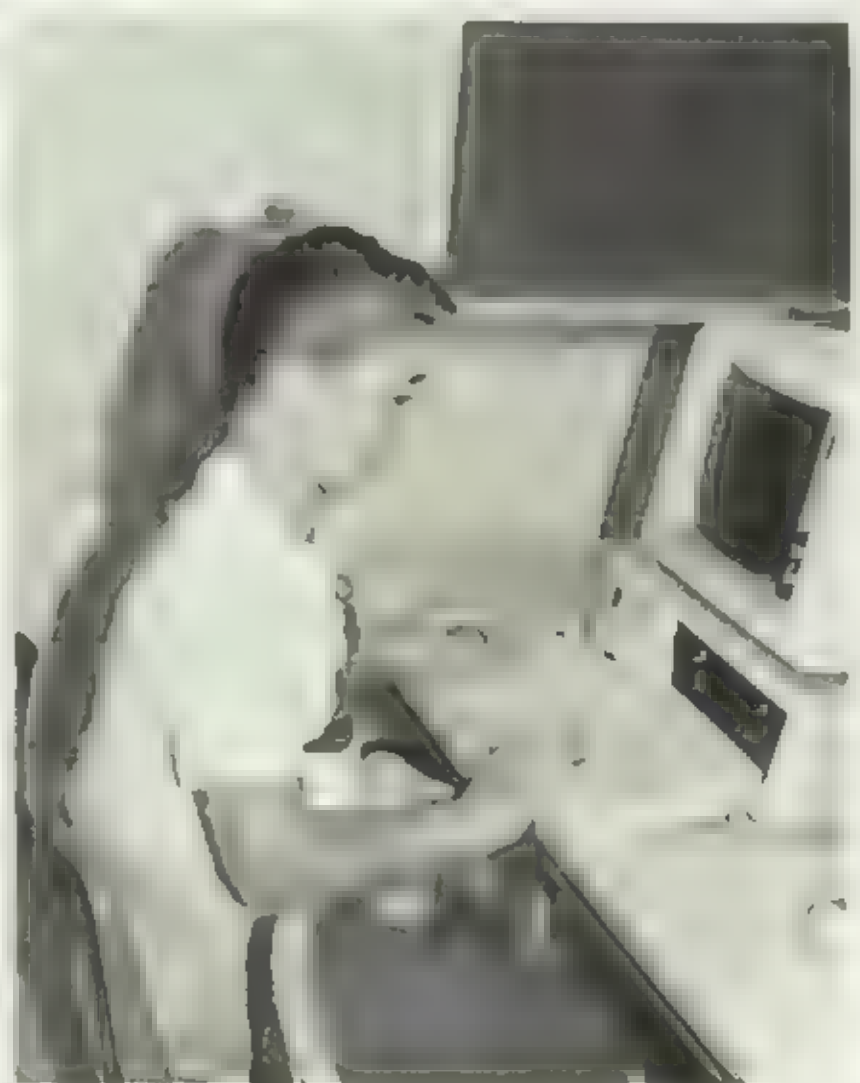

For the second year in a row, Mrs. Self served as the faculty sponsor of the club.

1986 members were Bruce Moses, Paul Frazier, Stephen Del Papa, Kathleen Self, Karen Flowers and Sherry Golla

The Computer Club sponsor was Mrs. Self.

Eighth grader, Sherry Golla, is extremely interested in learning about the computer world

Z-Club

Have you ever heard someone talking about going to see their grandmother, or having to do six hours of service work a month? If so, it was probably a Z-Club girl explaining why she couldn't watch her favorite soap opera.

Z-Club is a service organization for 10-12th grade girls who enjoy helping others in their community. There is always a lot to do.

Northwood's Z-Club faculty advisor's for 1986-87 were, Mrs. Bess Meyers, Mrs. Margaret Guess, and Mrs. Candice May.

The Red River Revel was just one of this year's activities which Z-Club participated in. Some of the club members painted faces on the squirming little children, while their parents stood in awe saying how adorable they were.

Also the group participated in the "Up, Up and Away With Arthritis" fund raiser, which sent balloons in honor of someone who has arthritis.

The annual Zonta Club Antique Show was another fun way to get service hours, as club members were expected to take orders and clean off tables in the Snack Bar area.

The Christmas time "Toys for Tots" drive was another winner. Seeing the excitement in a little one's eyes was quite a pleasure.

These were just a few services done during the year. However, one which was done constantly was visiting our adopted grandmothers in the Virginia Hall Nursing Home.

Though Z-Club was much work, it was also a lot of fun. So if you are a young lady who has the right grades and attitude toward people, and don't mind doing service hours, you should consider joining Z-Club.

Library Club

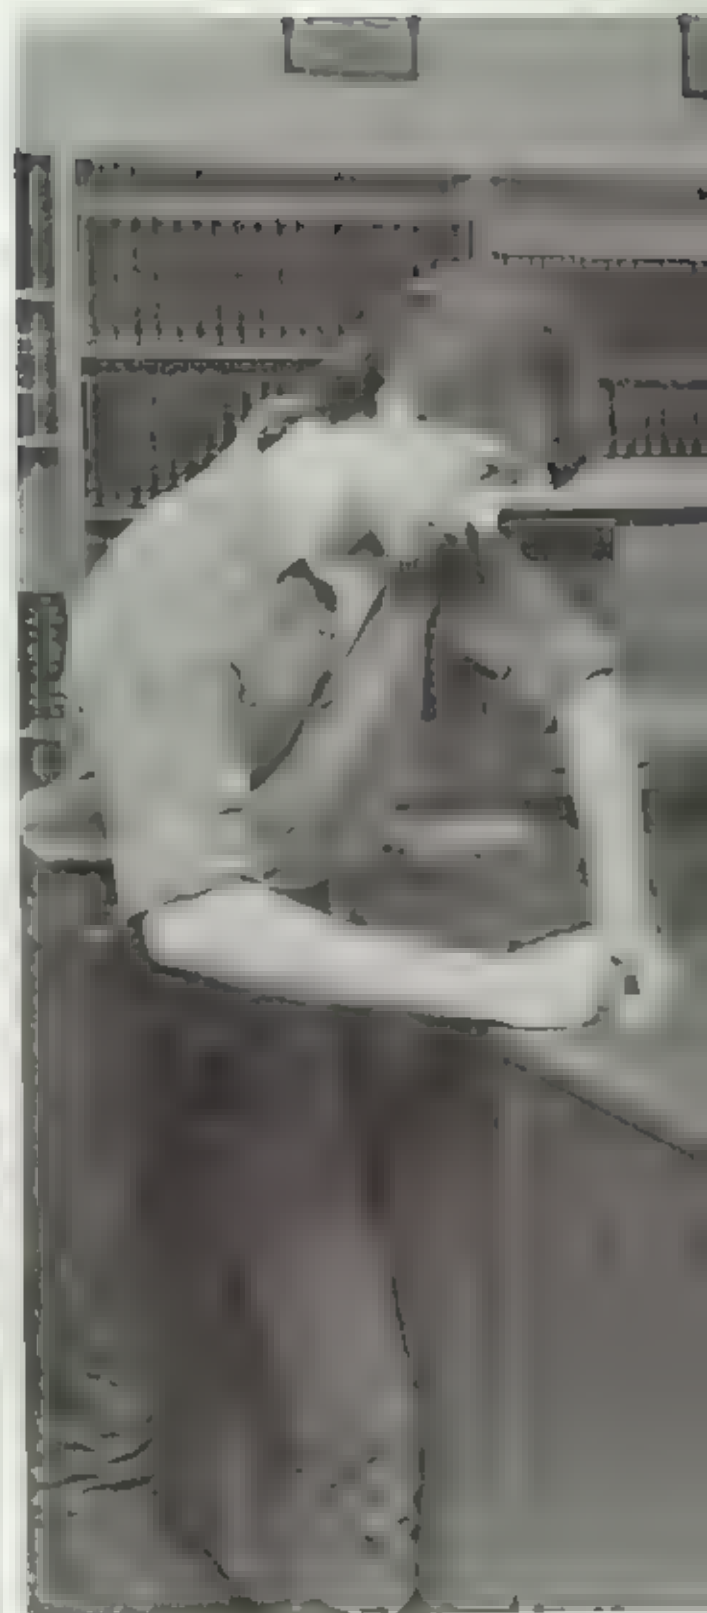

The library club is a service organization which promoted learning and enrichment, and support of the educational program of the school. The club served the students and school by making the library an attractive and inviting place to study and by encouraging good citizenship of fellow students through responsible behavior and proper care of resource materials. It enlivened student's interests and understanding of possibilities of the future so they would want to continue learning. The organization introduced students to library skills which will be useful for the rest of their lives. Library club helped to meet the needs of students in realistic way. Also, the feeling of "friends of libraries" was promoted since library is a very important part of the total school program.

So next time you don't have anything to do, visit the library and enter another world!

4-H CITIZENSHIP PLEDGE

We individually and collectively pledge our efforts from day to day to fight for the ideals of this nation.

We will never allow tyranny and injustice to become enthroned in this, our country, through indifference to our duties as citizens.

We will strive for intellectual honesty and exercise it through our power of franchise.

We will obey the laws of our land and endeavor increasingly to quicken the sense of public duty among our fellow men.

We will strive for individual improvement and for social betterment.

We will devote our talents to the enrichment of our homes and communities in relation to their material, social and spiritual needs.

We will endeavor to transmit to posterity this nation, not merely as we found it, but freer, and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us.

Quill and Scroll is the International Honorary Society for high school journalists. To become a member the students had to be a junior or senior, and in the upper third of their class.

The members had to have done superior work in some phase of journalism or school publications work, such as the newspaper or yearbook staff.

Additionally, to show their appreciation for the teachers, they joined together and brought food for the teachers lounge during teacher appreciation week.

Industrial Arts

Industrial Arts Club familiarized students with the tools, products, processes and occupations of industry. Some of the basic areas of industrial arts education were: Mechanical Drawing, Metalworking, Woodworking and Power Mechanics.

The members of Industrial Arts Club kept a folder of safety tests. They were required to score 100% on each power tool test before they started work with those tools. On October 27 a project planning sheet was completed by each student for their required project.

F.B.L.A.

Future business Leaders of America is an organization which allows students an insight into the business world.

During the year F.B.L.A. had various activities. One of their many activities was the Type-A-Thon that was held in January. The students typed in competition with fellow students to raise money.

The proceeds were given to the Leukemia Society of America. Another of their activities was the District Rally which was held in February. The rally was a competition held to show the knowledge of the local F.B.L.A. chapters in the business world. Those students who ranked superior in the District Rally went on to the State Convention held in March.

Toward the end of the year F.B.L.A. had their annual American Enterprise day to acknowledge three local business leaders in the community.

The highlight of this year's Falcon Band was the receipt of new uniforms in colors of burnt orange, white, and turquoise. They replaced the black ones which had been issued for the past thirteen years.

The band was extremely busy this year. Under the direction of Mr. Craig Hardy, they attended all football games, the Annual Band Festival, and the Polk Salad Festival Parade. They also gave Christmas, school, and Spring concerts. Mr. Hardy should be commended for his effort to create a great band program.

R.O.T.C.

Cadet Captain James Murphy is a member of the ROTC Rifle Team.

Northwood's JROTC was a very rewarding experience for those students involved with it. They learned discipline, leadership, and team work, while also gaining knowledge of basic military skills and an appreciation for the role the United States Army plans in the defense of our country. ROTC cadets were often seen after school practicing for one or another of the various extracurricular activities offered, such as Rifle Team, Orienteering Team, or Drill Team.

The Rifle Team traveled around to compete with other schools in the area. They even competed in Thibodeaux, Louisiana for the state matches.

Orienteering, a challenging and physical test of one's map and compass skills, as well as endurance, was an activity enjoyed by numerous Northwood cadets. The Orienteering Team spent an entire day on the east compound at Barksdale A.F.B. where they competed in physical training and map reading.

Some members of ROTC went to NSU for the Demon exercise. They went on survival trips where they learned how to cook and survive on their own in the wilderness.

Jr. High Cheerleaders

The Junior High Cheerleaders and their sponsor, Mrs. Kathy O'Neal, showed a lot of school spirit this year. They started the year off at Louisiana Tech's UCA Cheerleader Camp where they won a gold superior ribbon in the cheer competition. They also brought home eight superior ribbons and three excellent ribbons. Then the NCA Cheerleaders rated them superior in regional competition at Loyola. They also won a trophy in the Brookwood Cheerleader Association Competition during the fall.

In November, the girls traveled to the University of Southwestern Louisiana in Lafayette for the SCA Competition, where they competed against cheerleaders from all over the state. They won runner-up in the dance competition and brought home the spirit stick. During this competition, seventh grader, Christi Duncan competed against 37 high school girls and won runner-up for best cheerleader.

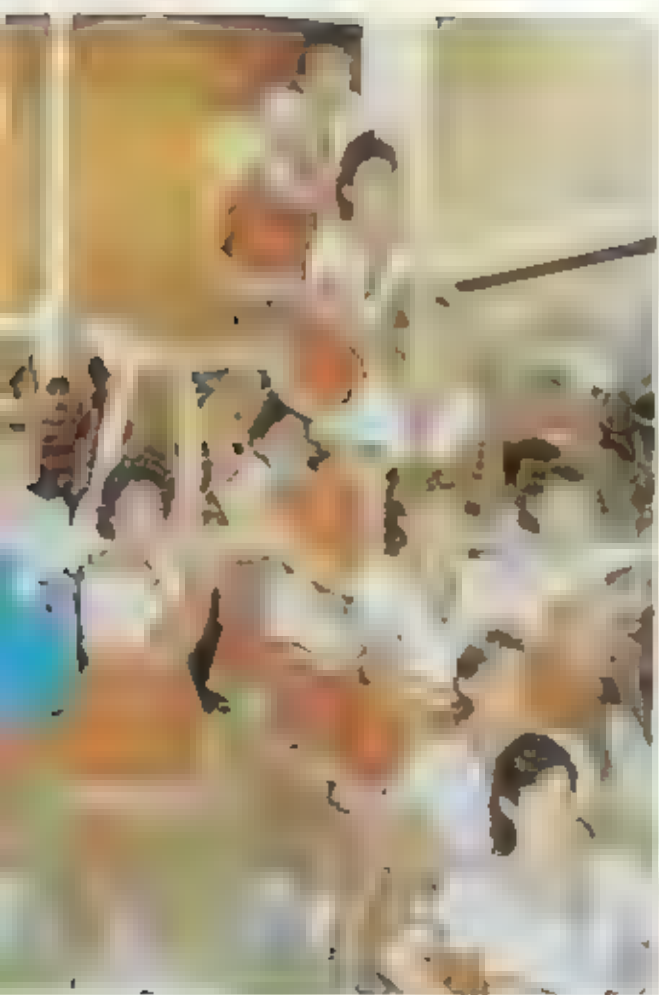

Cheerleaders raised to new heights the school spirit at a junior high home football game.

Get Fired Up!

Northwood had twelve Junior High Cheerleaders this year. The two head cheerleaders were Christie Goad, eighth grader, and Tracie Baker, seventh grader. You could always find the cheerleaders in the auditorium practicing for competitions and the games, as they led all the Junior high pep rallies and cheered at each of the junior high athletic events.

During October, the Junior

High Cheerleaders sponsored a fund and spirit raising event called "Kiss the Pig". Students spent a nickel each time they voted for their favorite teacher (or the one they would like to see kiss a pig!). The winner of this dubious honor was Mrs. Kathy O'Neal, who was required to 'pucker-up' for the cutest little black and white pig which could be found in time for the Homecoming pep rally.

J.V. Cheerleaders

Having forever lacked the enthusiastic school support provided for varsity teams, the J.V. sports groups this year heard voices and cheers they weren't accustomed to, Northwood's newly formed squad of Junior Varsity cheerleaders.

After word of the newly forming group spread around campus, fourteen excited young ladies practiced daily during the after-school clinic last spring. As the girls stretched their muscles, their vocal chords, and their parents' patience, each anticipated with anxiety the impending tryouts. After a panel of judges evaluated each candidate, the results were finally announced.

Junior-Melissa Dean; Sophomores-Stephanie Elliott, Kim Hunter, Tangua Jones and Kim Scogin; and Freshman-Christie Bonner thus became Northwood's first Junior Varsity Cheerleader Squad.

Under the direction of Mrs. Yates, the girls attended Universal Cheerleading Association summer camp at Tech in Ruston where they enthusiastically came home with a Superior rating. They also received an Excellent rating at the Regional Cheerleading Competition held at Loyola in October, and thoroughly enjoyed their new found responsibilities as a part of the Falcons' spirit team.

Cheerleaders

The 1986-87 Varsity Cheerleaders were elected by the Northwood student body on April 13, 1986. These talented and lucky girls were: Seniors- Brandy Boone, head cheerleader, Kellie Black and Deborah Epps; Juniors- Kellie Bedgood, Mary Ann Giecek and Laurie House; Sophomores- Jennifer Feibel, Kayla Moore and Dana White, and Freshmen- Sharon Collier, Dana Grace, and Tricia Parker.

They immediately began to practice for summer camp which they attended in June at Louisiana Tech, where they received superior evaluations each night, were in the top three in chant competition, and brought home the spirit stick.

After resting during the month of July, they returned to a rigorous schedule of practice during August. On the 23rd, they competed against all area Triple-A squads in the eleventh annual South Park Mall Cheerleading Competition. They were judged third by the N.C.A. trio and received one hundred dollars and a beautiful trophy for their efforts.

On October 18, they once again traveled to La. Tech to compete in the annual La. Tech-McDonalds Competition. Seventy-eight squads competed, and Northwood's Varsity squad was recognized as being the top-ten.

The twelve girls have been very proud to represent Northwood and appreciate this opportunity given to them.

Shout It Out!!

The Varsity Cheerleaders worked very hard to support all of the N.H.S. teams. They raised money to buy paper and ink for signs. They attended all varsity football, basketball and baseball games, track meets and wrestling matches. They organized pep rallies and had a lot of fun at the spirit breakfasts, the pancake breakfast, the F.C.A. functions and the athletic banquet. To each of them Northwood High School is #1.

Freddy The Falcon

Dale Christian, senior, flew to new heights this year as Northwood's mascot- Freddy Falcon. Dale was elected last year by this year's seniors to serve as the mascot for the '86-'87 school year. He was greatly honored and shocked to be chosen as Freddy.

Serving as Freddy carried a great responsibility and was a lot of fun according to Dale. Over the summer he attended mascot camp to learn how to be the best 'bird' he could be. Although there were some parts of the job that weren't what they were cracked up to be, such as having to survive inside the hot suit, and tolerating little kids who pulled on his tail, the inconveniences were but little discomforts compared to the 'highs' of the job.

Dale, otherwise known as Freddy, spent most of his time during the school year working with the cheerleaders for the routines and skits performed during the football games and pep rallies.

When Dale put on his Freddy suit, he turned into- 'Superbird', cheering on our great football team and throwing around his own specially made 'Freddy football'. Stiring school spirit was his task, and everyone agreed that Dale, ur- Freddy, did a fantastic job!

In real life, 1986-'87 s Freddy Falcon was the embodiment of senior, Dale Chnstian.

Freddy uses a little persuasive reconning to get Freshman Maid, Dana Grace, to cheer even louder at the Homecoming game with Loyola.

Even though we lost the game, Northwood's Freddy was cordial towards Bossier's Bearkat.

Some of the varsity cheerleaders seemed enamored with Freddy's 'formal attire' at homecoming.

What could possibly be a more imposing sight than a falcon in a top-hat and carrying a cane?

Jr. High Pep Squad

Helping to encourage more school spirit among the junior high students this year were the seventh and eighth grade girls who made up the junior high pep squad. To show their school spirit, these girls wore their pep squad shirts every Friday to school. They attended all of the junior-high pep rallies and cheered their team on at home football and basketball games.

Major officers for pep squad were: (front) Brandi Wiggins, lieutenant; Shana Terry, colonel; Veronica Bamburg; (back) Mandy Guess, major; Tammy Tinsley, major; and Micki Garren, major

This year our Falconettes were an all time success. They cheered the Falcons to many victories, spread pride and enthusiasm, and inspired spirit among the school. They even showed their spirit by cheering the Falcons through 19 degree weather at the Jonesboro Hodge State Play-Off game.

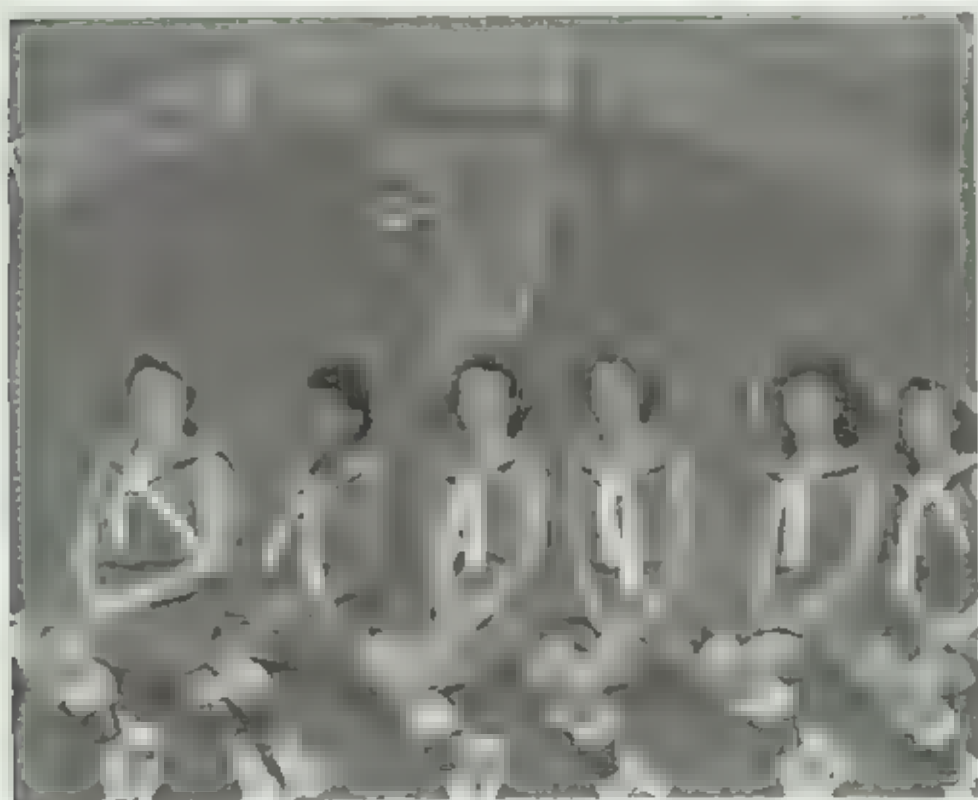

Pep Squad did something new this year, having marched in the Minden and popular Natchitoches Christmas parades. While in Natchitoches, the girls enjoyed snacking on Natchitoches meat pies and enjoying all the lights and decorations.

The group welcomed their new leader, Mrs. Helen Hedgemen. She did a fantastic job her first year at Northwood, and all the girls loved her. She has a great sense of humor, and was always there when you needed a friend.

Falcon Line

The 1986-87 Falcon Line was a very determined and dedicated group of young ladies. During June the girls attended Super Star Drill Team Camp at Tulane University. There they received every award possible, including: Sweepstakes Trophy, Judges Award of Excellence, and Spirit Stick. They also received a perfect score on their Home Evaluation Routine. The girls performed at every football game and many basketball games. They also attended competitions in Baton Rouge, Dallas, Florida, and at Parkway High School.

The sponsor of this outstanding group of young ladies was Mrs. Diane King. She has been with Falcon Line for eleven years and is very dedicated to her work.

Kim and Julie also attended a camp at Northeast Louisiana University in Monroe, where they garnered over forty blue ribbons. In addition, Julie received an outstanding dancer ribbon. Sports

Even after the 1986-87 year is far behind us, it will still remain buried in the memory of many Falcons sports fans. To many of us, it was the year Northwood's football team had such a great year, finishing as the Co-Champs in District 1-AAA, defeating Haughton and making the State Play-Offs for the first time since 1973. To others, it will be remembered as the year our baseball team started out so well, then took such a hard fall. Yet others will recall how our wrestling team had so many good senior wrestlers, but had such a hard time winning a match, or the year our basketball team was actually a threat to the opponents they faced. All these sports had one thing in common, improvements were made, and our teams, whether football, baseball, basketball, wrestling, golf, or tennis had seasons to be proud of in their own ways.

The thrill of athletics is not always in the winning, but having the courage to try. This section features those Falcon athletes who had that courage to try. Whether they won, lost, or tied, they represented Northwood High School proudly.

The 1986-87 football team gave Northwood a new winning record. This was the first time the Falcons made it to the State Play-offs since 1969. Each player on the team did his very best, and the dedication each put forth was worth it all in the end. Five players, Leroy Brown, Shannon Wall, Tony Rogers, Tony Armstrong, and Kenneth Hardman made the All-City team. These five were a real asset to the team while representing Northwood High School.

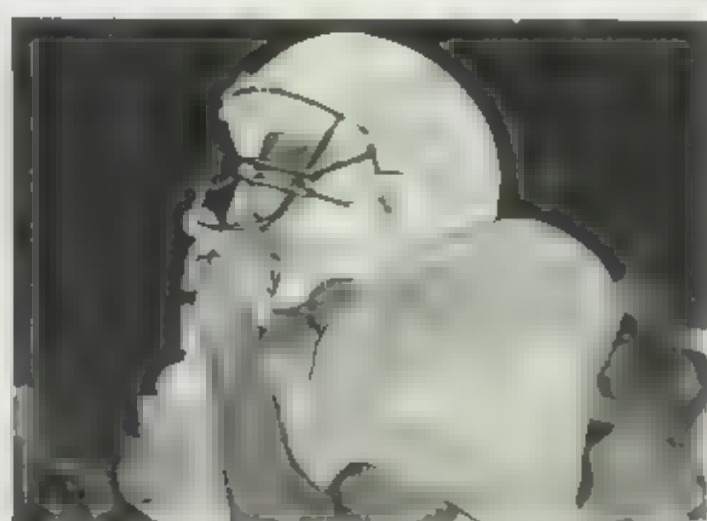

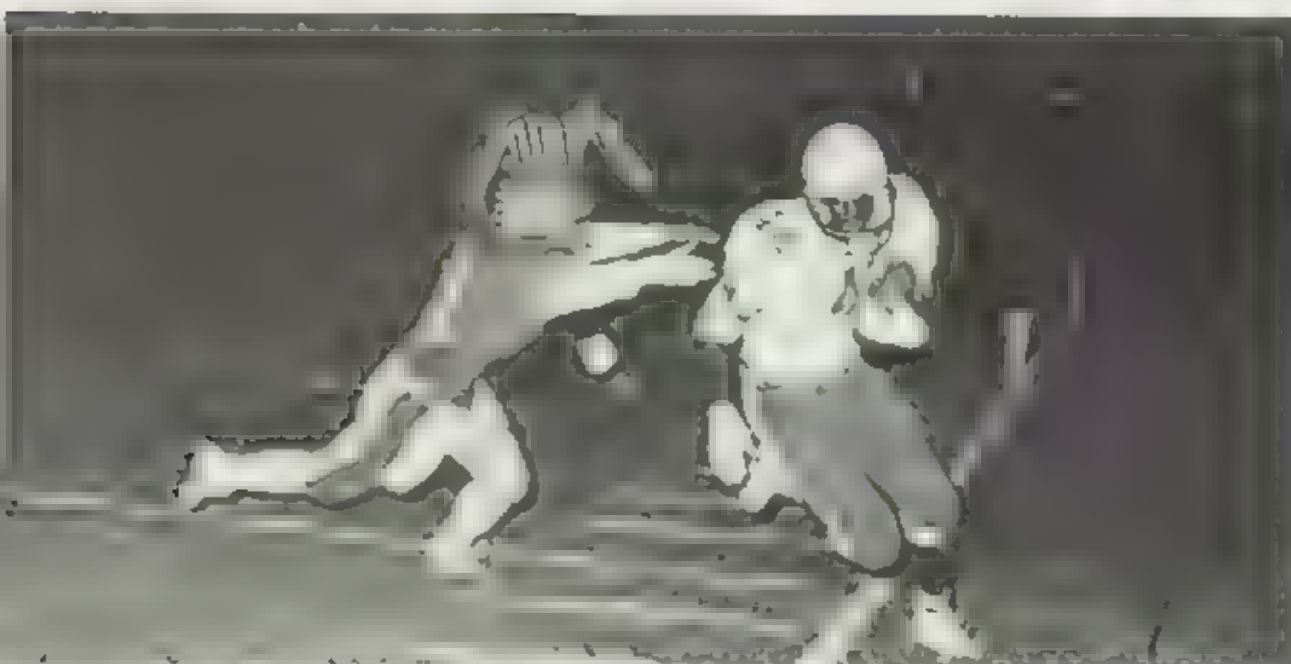

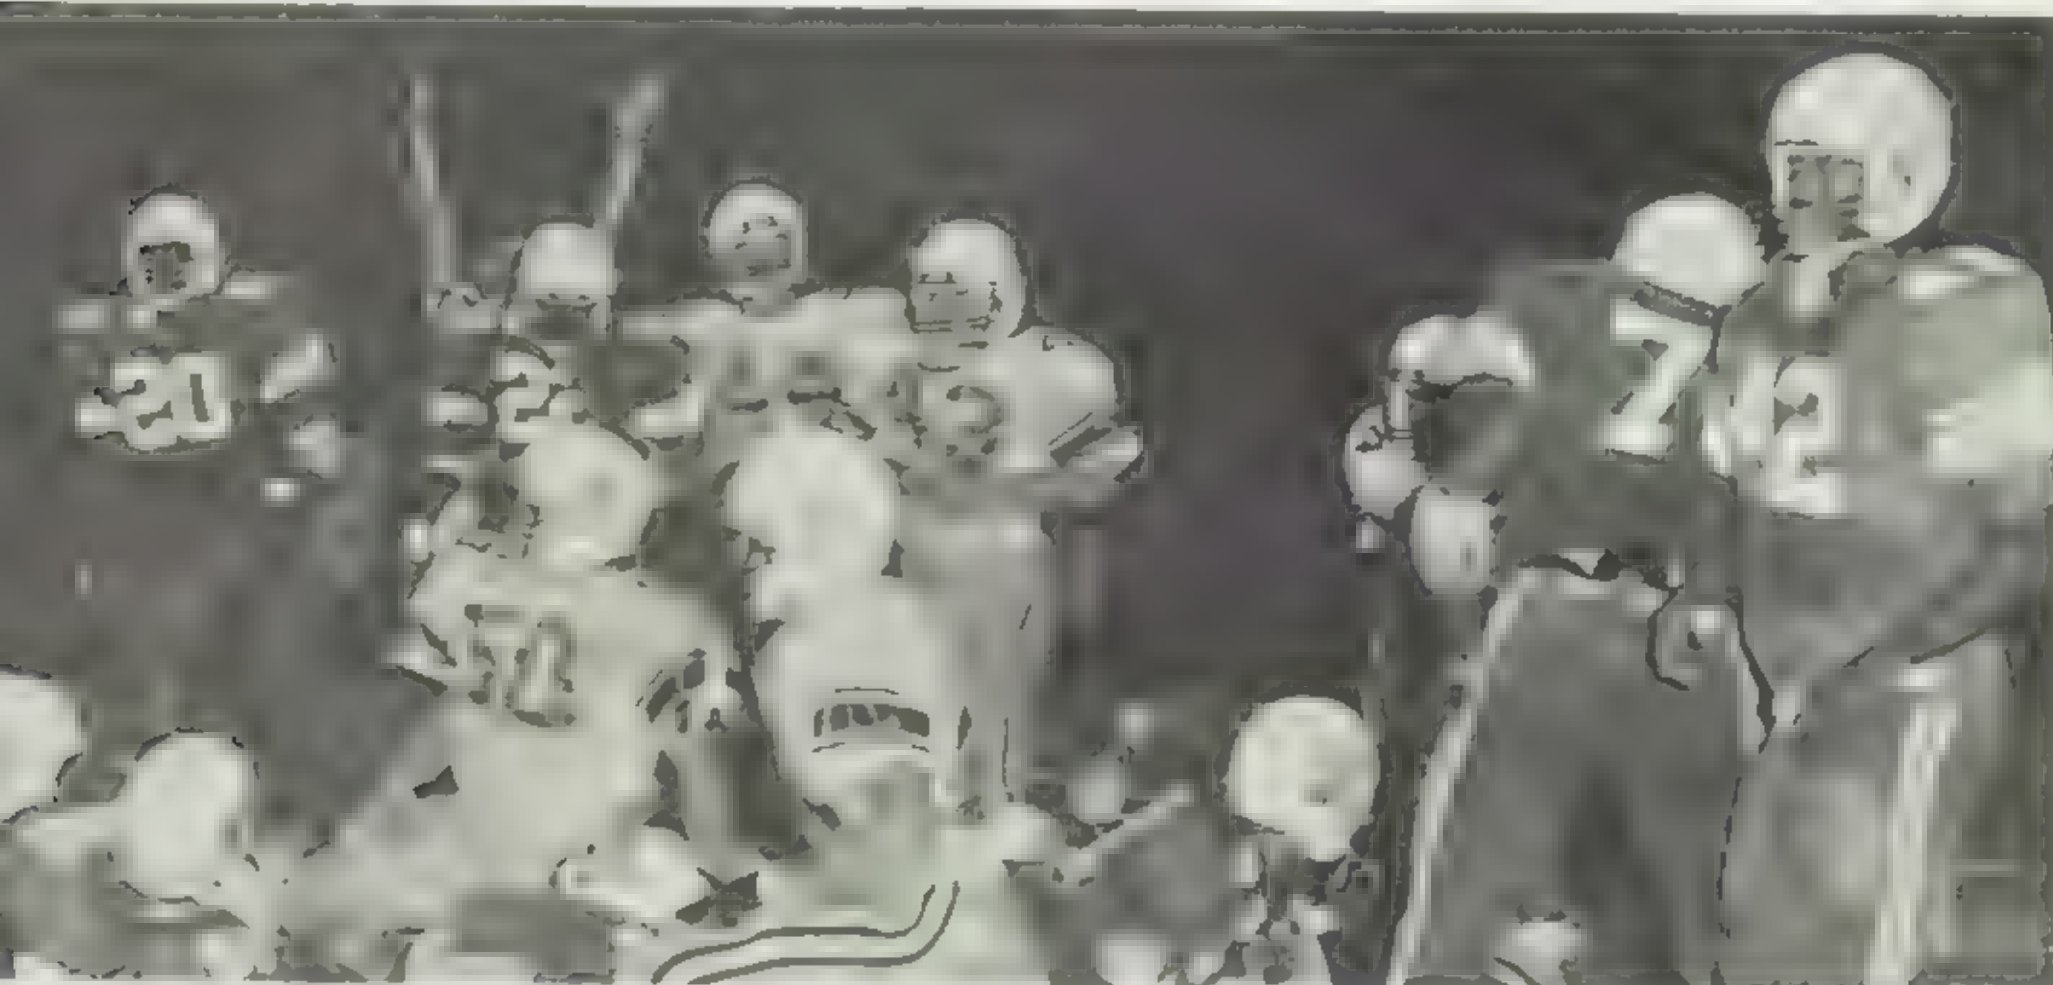

There were eight coaches for the Falcon Team and each of them were determined to have a winning season. They pushed the players to the limit, and produced a fantastic force of athletes. Our coaches stayed behind the team the whole season. Head coach Jerry Burton and staff showed their professionalism while leading Northwood to a new "Slice of Pride!"

J.V. FOOTBALL

Northwood's Junior Varsity Football team consisted of eager tenth and eleventh grade athletes who proved their ability to fight and win. There were many players who displayed great feats of determination and showed their hunger to play varsity football, in time, and their lightning ground attack helped them to record a great season.

9TH GRADE FOOTBALL

The Freshman team was made up of twenty-two eager ninth graders who worked through many hard practices. Coach Dickens commented: "We did O.K., but could have done better."

Although the Freshmen Falcons didn't do quite as well as had been hoped, it was still a good year, and they not only had fun, but also gained some valuable experience.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Although this year's Varsity Basketball team's record didn't indicate a winning season, it was definitely better than the previous year. Our team went into every game as a threat to whomever they faced. Keeping their heads up after last year's losing season, the Falcons knew a win was not "out of the question."

Showing Signs Of Life

The 1986 baseball season was similar to a drama story; it had happy moments, and sad moments.

The season started off as a big hit, but when it was all over, and there were no more bats cracking, balls screaming, and dirt flying, the season resulted as an upset for many falcon fans, and to many of the players.

As the story began, our kings of the diamond seemed high, mighty, and unbeatable. The falcon sluggers stopped anyone who opposed them, and slammed the door of defeat on them as they came knocking. Before long, our team found themselves 7-0. Going into game eight of the season, our state bound team, trying to keep their unbeaten streak going, were put away by the Rebels of North Caddo. Although the first loss was a hard one, the high flying falcons were down, but certainly not out . . . Yet! In the weeks following, the story didn't improve as the Falcons helplessly watched their playoff hopes diminish.

"The most depressing part of the season, other than not making the playoffs, was losing to North Caddo twice. However, Loyola was still our biggest rival," said J.J. Coffman, sophomore.

With the loss of seniors Chester Coffman, Rusty Moore, Joe Beers, and John Shephard, the remainder of the team felt they could fill these spots and have a good season in the '87 year. Seniors of '87 Shannon Wall, Max Knack, and Trevor Mikesell, said they would try it again in the '87 year & hope for the best. As for the '86 season, the Falcons were put out before reaching home plate. Perhaps they'll have better luck next year.

GOLF

Just A Swingin'

These guys did a lot "swingin'." They stayed after school in the fall and winter months preparing themselves for the year ahead. However, all of the hard practice paid off for Eric Reed, who was able to swing his way to the state tournament in Baton Rouge.

Mental and physical preparation aided the team in having a successful year. "I believe we had a pretty good year, and we had a great time", said junior, Rob Cox.

Each team member had different reasons for choosing golf as their sport. "I really enjoyed the peaceful solitude and fresh air," said junior, Ward McClain. Other than being able to play the sport exceptionally well, Tim Wilhite liked the traveling, and hoped to win a golf scholarship to LSU in Baton Rouge.

Senior team members for '86 included Mark Farhner and Eric Reed.

Sandstorm? No indeed! It's only senior Tim Wilhite, making a perfect chip out of a sand hazard, a feat he infrequently had to accomplish.

TENNIS 86

Just A Racket!

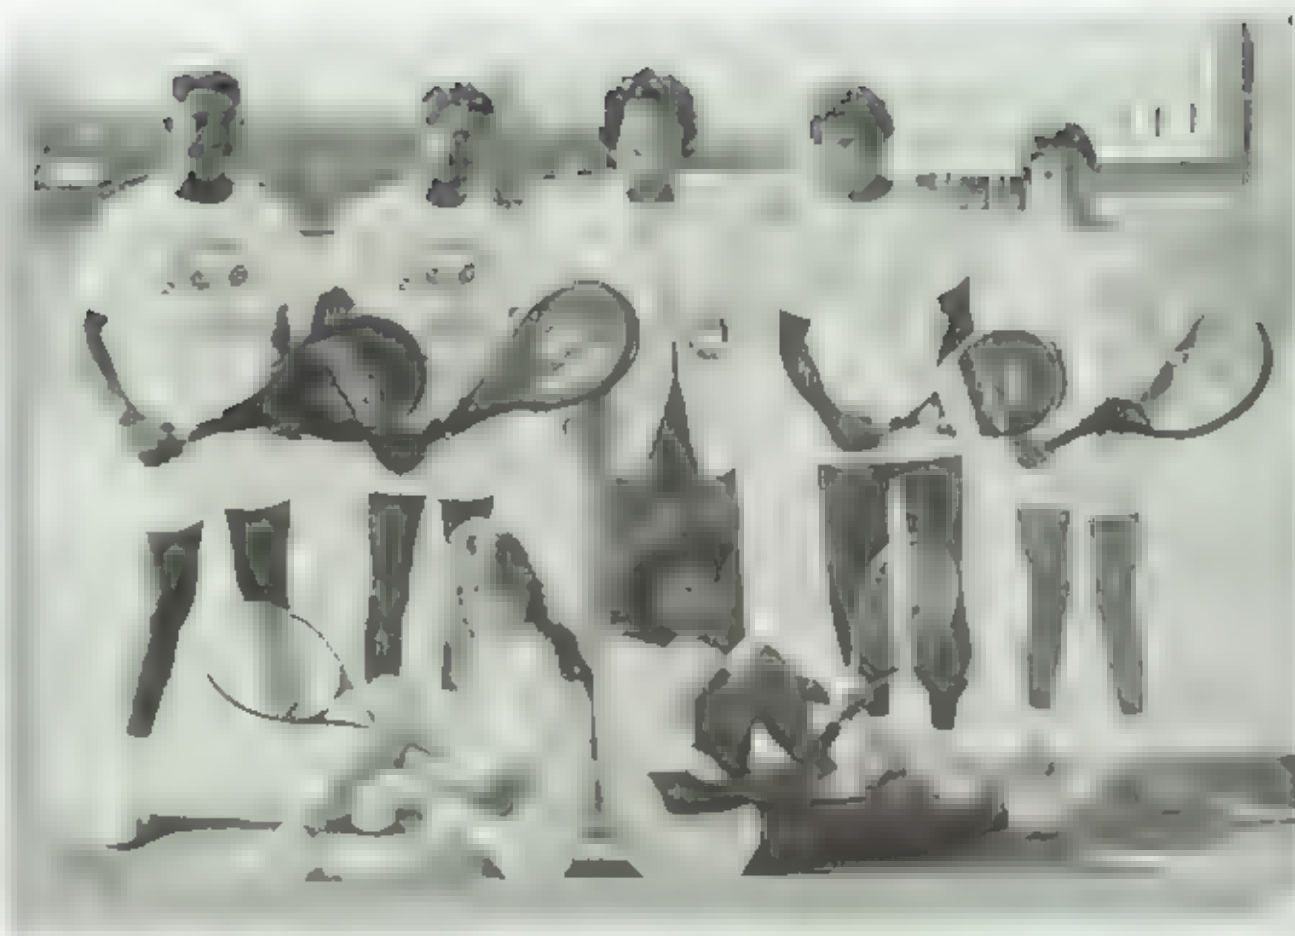

Last year's Tennis Team might not be what one would call a screaming success, but it was better than most expected.

Most of the team were beginners, not only in competing, but in the sport itself, and it was definitely a new venture for them.

To get ready for the season the team practiced two hours after school every day during the spring, and awaited the Four State Tournament held in Magnolia Arkansas for grades 9-12. Three of the team members; DeUndree Hodge, Joe McDonald, and Corrine Kent, placed in the first round, though the second round was cancelled because of rain.

After their experiences at Magnolia, the team's spirits rose as the State Regionals at Centenary drew near. Nikki Cason won in the first round and advanced to the second round, which was an honor for her and the team.

WRESTLING

Things Can Only Get Better

Body slams, drop kicks, and close-lines aren't things you would see in an amateur wrestling match, and if you had a chance to see the Falcon grapplers during the season, Northwood winning a match is something else you probably wouldn't have seen. Although their wins were few and far between, their spirit remained high and they never lost their fight.

There were many reasons which could have contributed to so many losses. 1. Almost half of the team's starting varsity consisted of first year wrestlers. 2. Of the thirteen varsity wrestlers, four were freshmen and two were eighth graders. 3. The Falcons were troubled all season with injuries. 4. There was no one to fill two of the weight classes, therefore they were forfeited.

However, since wrestling is as much an individual sport as it is a team sport, the team did well in tournament competition. Some of those who did well were Seniors, Dale Christian, Allen Dantes, Max Knack, Trevor Mikesell, Tony Phillips, and Keith Williams. With all six having a good chance of making it to the State finals this year, four would be making a return trip!

TRACK '86

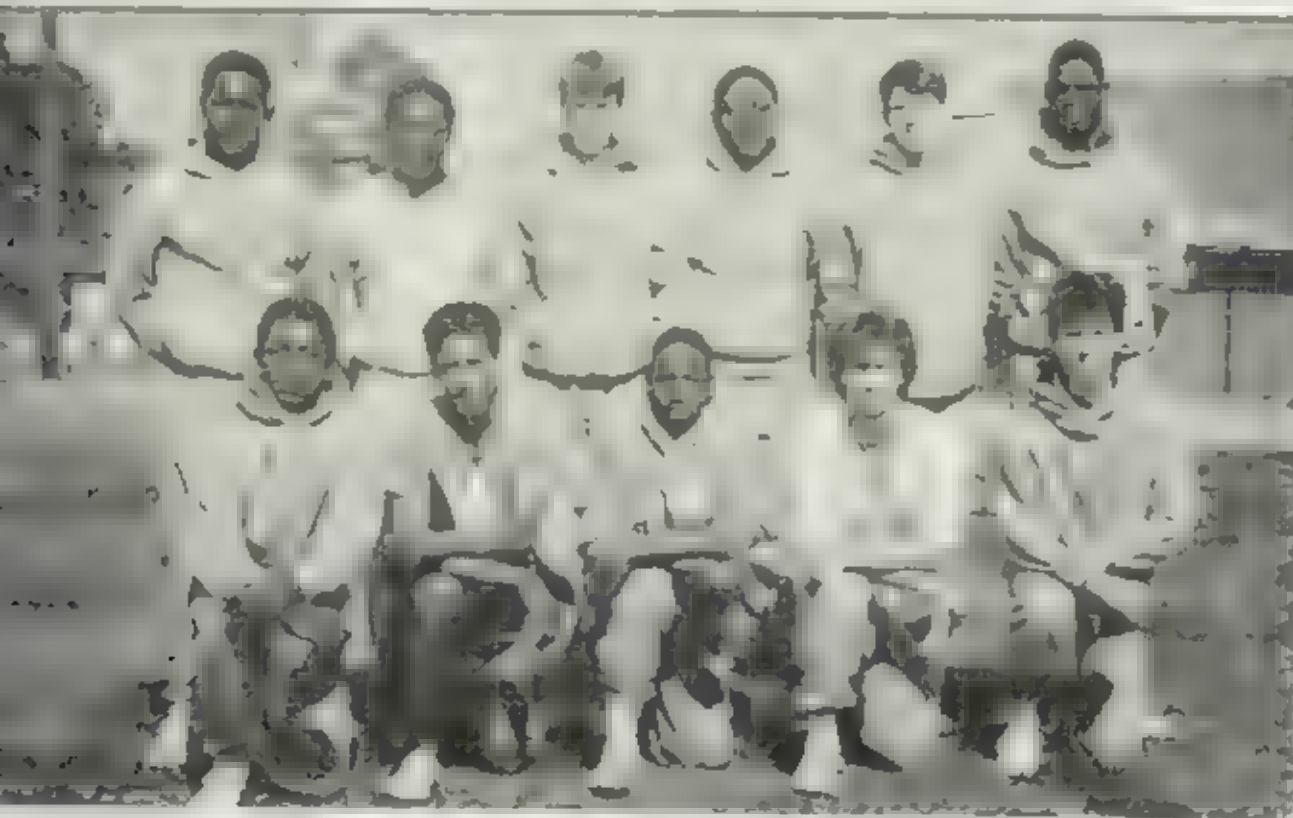

Overcoming Obstacles

This year our track runners really went the distance. Starting off the year, Charles Williams, Anthony Cooper, Bill Johnson, and Sentel Edwards blew past the finish line winning the 1600 meter relay in District, making them District Champs. Bill Johnson, Leroy Brown, and Shane Culver all went to State. Shane and Leroy were really impressive when they won state in javelin and shot put. All track sports were really successful this year. The team said they owe it all to Coach Calhoun. One track member, Bill Johnson, told us that through the year the workouts were hard, but the conditioning really paid off.

As another Armstrong once said: "One small step for man, one giant leap for mankind!"

Going all the way was what this years J.V. team had hoped for, although the meets weren't very successful. The most exciting meet was the one in Ruston. The team thought that running on Tech's track was the greatest. They were all very impressed!

The team traveled to a few out of town meets. They went to Bossier where they won 2nd, but the farthest they went was Springhill.

Keith Cosby told us: "even though the year wasn't as good as they had hoped for, we learned a lot and we had a good time."

Off And Running

"This year's Varsity Girl's Track Team did an excellent job," said Coach Mitchell. This was his tenth year to teach track and he said he was really proud of the girls outcome. He also said the girls put a lot of effort into it, and he is really proud of them.

The team was mostly made up of freshman, but the coach said that they got considerable experience and it should help them in their high school year's.

There were eight successful meets. One particular team member, Seneraka Taylor, went to the State meet in Baton Rouge, Where she competed in the eight-hundred meter run. Carrie Weeks said; "I've always enjoyed sports, and I really had a great time."

Junior, Stephanie Franks, shows us her style at throwing the discus.

This year's Junior High Track Team sweated under the hot Spring sun every day after school for two months. Unfortunately, all that hard practice wasn't put to use, because of the rainy season that hung over their heads. Out of two meets, they were only able to go to the one scheduled to be played at North Caddo where the team placed second over all.

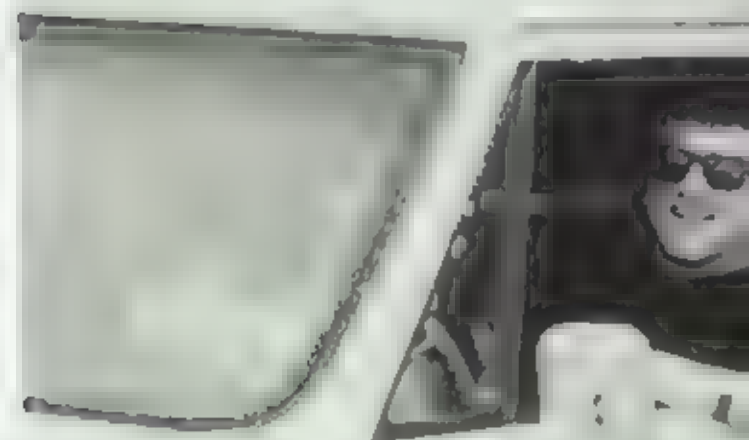

Coach Lane led one particular team member to glory, Murrel Godfrey, who placed first in high jump and second in shot put and long jump.

Sophomore, Jennifer Judd, shows how much strength it takes to throw the shot-put.

People

Featured on the following pages are the vast majority of people who work at or attend Northwood. Ranging from the Principal, to the custodian, to the individual student, Northwood's population is made up of a large variety of personalities. From preppie to punk everyone had his own style, and each person wanted to do his own thing. Open these pages to discover the distinct and unique people who made up our AWESOME school!

Administration

Northwood's administrative staff was composed of one principal, and three assistants. Leading the staff was Mr. Gerald Moss, Principal for the past seven years. Mr. Moss's assistants included Mr. Jerry Flowers, who was in charge of discipline; Mrs. Mary Nash Robinson, in charge of instruction; and Mrs. Bess Myers, who was responsible for the junior high instructional program.

With previous educational experiences as a teacher, counselor, and assistant principal, at Linwood and Woodlawn Mr. Moss received his training at MSU - LSU, La Tech and the University of Arkansas

Many students here at Northwood are assigned to detention for one reason or another. Some go for tardies, skipping, or failure to behave in class.

Detention is a form of punishment which does not involve missing school. Some parents feel that detention is better than suspension since their child can learn a lesson, and thus be careful not to make the same mistake again.

Students who are assigned to detention have a chance to do their homework, or read, but are not allowed to talk. Some people even sleep, just to pass the time. However, if one misses detention, the next action is suspension.

"My impression of detention is that it is boring, and there's nothing to do. But, I would much rather go to detention for a day, than to be suspended," said Bryan Beers

"Hitching A Ride"

"Hitching a ride" is what Northwood's parking lot is all about. Just ask Freshman, Crissy Stoudt, or Junior, Amy Addison, who hitched a ride with Marco DeValle almost every day. For some people getting a ride home is a way to make new friends. For others, it's a chance to ride in a new car, or just a way home. However, for most, it's a daily ritual.

Rodeo Star

Representing Northwood in the 1986-87 Louisiana High School Rodeo Association competition as a state finalist in Barrels and Goat-Tying, freshman, Traci Blythe emerged as overall winner of Goat Tying. She also qualified for the finals in 1985.

Traci regularly competed in Barrels, Pole Bending, Break-Away Roping, and Goat-Tying. She rides either of her two horses, Mighty Mouse or Shilo, in competition, and practiced two to three hours each day. Her ultimate goal was to make the state finals again in 1987 and qualify for the National Finals to be held July 27, in Pueblo, Colorado.

"All In The Family"

Since there are so many faculty members and students at this school who are related, we decided to ask them how they felt about attending the same school as their family members

Mrs. Polson: "The only time I see Eric is in class. I treat him the same as any other student."

Mrs. Burton: "I love it. It gives me so much time to spend with Chip"

Coach Burton: "I like it. It has its disadvantages though, such as he thinking we're always watching him, but that isn't true"

Mr. Flowers: "It is a part of our lives. My daughters are treated the same as any other students."

Mrs. Stimits: "I am fortunate to have the opportunity to know my daughter's teachers and peer group. I am more in touch with teenagers than parents who do not work with them."

Mrs. Myers: "Northwood offers the educational program I want my daughter, and later my sons, to have. I am happy here and love the fact Fran is here with me"

Mrs. Fullerton: "I love it. It gives Elizabeth and me more time to spend together. I am very proud of her"

Mrs. McClain: "I like it. I am here when Ward needs permission, or when he's sick. It gives me a chance to know his friends"

Mrs. McEachern: "It causes no problem for us. I have the opportunity to know his friends"

Mrs. Self: "There are the good times and the bad. I have taught in the same system before"

Karen Flowers: "I like it. I feel very honored"

Fran Myers: "It doesn't bother me."

Ward McClain: "I hate it. I can't do anything without my aunt or my mom watching me"

Chip Burton: "I like it. Sometimes my dad makes me feel like a NERD because he is always making fun of my hair"

Heather Stimits: "My mother and I relate more like friends until I do something wrong, then she becomes an authority figure. Sometimes that's hard, but I am glad we are together."

Eric Polson: "I like it. Especially when I need money"

Elizabeth Fullerton: "I love being with my mom. She is always there when I need her"

Kathleen Self: "I take the fifth amendment"

Elizabeth Self: "I have no comment"

N.A.S.A.

Close Encounters With NASA, a traveling space show, visited Shreveport's Louisiana State Exhibit Museum at the Fairgrounds December 1-13. This two-week exhibit of large-scale NASA models and audio visual programs brought many fun filled activities.

One, the taping of a T.V. show at KSLA 12 studios, featured public affairs specialists from Marshall Space Flight Center. Two Northwood students, juniors, Randy Arendell and David Keller, were lucky enough to be able to attend the taping. Eighth grader Anthony Dantes attended the exhibit, and when asked what he thought of it, he replied: "It was very interesting and exciting. I thought it was great."

There will be a new school opening in the Northwood area in 1988. Ms. Myers, Assistant Principal of Northwood, said: "No name has been set for the school yet. However, for the present they are calling it Middle School North." Ms. Myers, who was on the committee for the new school, also said that schools are usually named after geographical areas, such as Northwood, Southwood ect., or after famous people such as Booker T. Washington or Turner.

The school is set to open in September of 1988, contrary to some rumors of it opening for the '87 year. It is designed to hold 1,200 6th, 7th, and 8th grade students, but is not expected to open at full capacity. The school opening will not affect current Northwood students, but will affect the current 6th graders of Blanchard, North Highlands, and Mooringsport schools.

Louisiana State Fair

The aroma of cotton candy, hot dogs, and candied apples told us that once again the annual Louisiana State Fair was here, during the week of October 17-26, thousands of people visited the fair. There was something for everyone at the fair. There were rides games, exhibits, and tons of great food. All in all, it was a wonderful time to be had by young and old alike.

This year people who were interested in good food, all types of art, and just a good time with terrific entertainment, gathered this fall on the river front for the Red River Revel. The Revel celebrated the arts from our area and the surrounding areas. All ages could enjoy the cultural experiences that the Revel brought to Shreveport.

One of the first things many students do when they pick up their yearbook is to look for all the pages with pictures of themselves and their friends. After all of the excitement has died down, they then notice the many advertisements placed in the back of the book. The generosity of the merchants and individuals who advertise on the following pages provides the funds for such yearbook extras as color pages, and a nice cover.

We owe it to our advertisers to honor their businesses with our business. We thank them once again for their everlasting support.

Don't quit while you're ahead.

Whether you've got a few months or a few years, don't quit until you've got that high school diploma you've worked so hard for. Because without it, you'll miss out on a lot of opportunities. One of the greatest of which is being a United States Marine. A rare opportunity indeed. After all, not everyone can be one of us. Get your diploma first, then see your local Marine recruiter.

We have finally come to the close of another school year. Being editors this year, and this not only being our senior year, but Northwood's twentieth anniversary as well, we felt a certain need to make this the best yearbook we possibly could- the best yearbook Northwood has seen to date! We did our utmost to create a unique 'treasure' for you, and hope that you enjoy it as much as we enjoyed putting it together. Even though we did not always agree on 'major' decisions, we felt that in the end it turned out for the very best. We have the staff and Mr. Chopin to thank for making the difficult task a lot easier to bear.

Thanks for a Great Year!
